ASCENDANT RESOURCES PROVIDES MAY PRODUCTION & EXPLORATION UPDATE

- Low availability and utilization rates for aging mobile equipment impacted production; new equipment arrivals currently underway

El MOCHITO, HONDURAS - Ascendant Resources Inc. (TSX-V: ASND) ("Ascendant" or the "Company" - http://www.commodity-tv.net/c/search_adv/?v=297653) announces that the Company's El Mochito mine in Honduras hoisted 46,833 tonnes of ore in the month of May, an average of 1,511 tonnes per day. Milled production for the month was 50,597 tonnes, an average of 1,687 tonnes per day.

The mining and milling performance over the past two months is displayed in the table below.

	April	May	April tpd	May tpd	2-Month Average tpd
Ore hoisted (t)	52,912	46,833	1,960	1,511	1,750
Milled (t)	49,393	50,597	1,829	1,687	1,754
Working Days			27	30	57

After a strong mining performance in April, production in May was impacted by reduced availability of the underground mining equipment, underscoring the Company's program to upgrade the existing aging mining fleet of ten trucks and six loaders. The first of three trucks ordered in March is now on site and currently being reassembled underground and a second truck is expected to arrive in late June with a third in early July. Critical spares missing in late May are now in hand which should improve availability in June for the existing fleet. The additional 2 LHD loaders ordered in March have expected delivery by the end of June. The Company is in the process of making additional purchases of key equipment.

Much progress has been made throughout the operations to improve future production. The Company has restructured both the mining and maintenance departments at El Mochito to improve their effectiveness. The Company's Business Improvement team is complete following the hiring of two senior engineers in May, and it will continue to implement optimizations with a focus on higher production rates and lower costs. The Company also hired five senior personnel into key operational roles in maintenance, mining and mine planning.

President and CEO Chris Buncic commented: "Following April's strong performance, May was disappointing as we managed our aging fleet with reduced availability as a result of increased working hours. Yet with new trucks and scoops being commissioned over the next six weeks, we expect our equipment availability to improve as we get these into service. Organizational restructuring with new processes and procedures in place should have an immediate impact on availability and utilization. Coupled with the new equipment, production should resume its growth trend in the near-term and we remain confident in the guidance we have provided for the year. Our Business Improvement team will continue our efforts of making our operations more profitable, and the new additions also add valuable technical strength to our team at El Mochito”.

Exploration Program

The Company is also pleased to announce that it has commenced its 2017 underground exploration program targeted to upgrade and expand the overall resources at its El Mochito mine. After a detailed review of the numerous exploration targets, the exploration team has developed a comprehensive and systematic exploration program to further define the potential at El Mochito.

Drilling has commenced and Management is currently planning for an exploration program consisting of 33,200 meters of drilling at an anticipated cost of US$3 million by the end of 2017. The program will consist of approximately 18,200 meters of definition drilling, targeted at converting a portion of the Inferred resources into Measured and Indicated resource categories.

An additional 15,000 meters of greenfield exploration is targeted to add new resources with a focus on high-grade chimney material by defining the continuation of known chimneys. The program is planned to focus on seven key areas that have the potential to be brought into the mine plan in the next 3-24 months: Esperanza, Victoria, Santa Elena, Deep North, Deep East, Port Royal and Palmar. Each of these areas have the potential to host new, high-grade resources and have been selected based on the limited development required to access them.

Based upon the current exploration program, Management would expect to disseminate results as they become available over the next several months. The results of this year's program will be used to define Ascendant's 2018 exploration targets to enhance both the near and longer-term potential at El Mochito. Further details on the exploration program can be found on the company's website at www.ascendantresources.com.

President and CEO Chris Buncic continued: "We are very excited about the near-term exploration program as we search for additional high-grade resources to bring into the mine plan quickly. The exploration team on the ground has been eager to begin a program since we assumed ownership of the mine following an extended period of limited exploration, and have excellent ideas of where to look”.
