

Alpha Lithium Graduates to NEO Exchange

VANCOUVER and TORONTO, Canada, September 20, 2022 -- Alpha Lithium Corporation (NEO: ALLI) (formerly TSXV: ALLI) (OTC: APHLF) (Germany WKN: A3CUW1) (“Alpha” or the “Company” - <https://www.commodity-tv.com/ondemand/companies/profil/alpha-lithium-corp/>) is pleased to announce the commencement of trading today on the NEO Exchange under the symbol ALLI, following a voluntary delisting from the TSX-Venture Exchange.

“Alpha Lithium is now our sixth mining listing in the past year, and the most recent in a steady graduation of quality companies from venture exchanges to the NEO Tier 1 stock exchange,” said Jos Schmitt, President of NEO and SVP of Global Listings for Cboe Global Markets. “This is a trend that we are determined to pursue as we continue to offer greater exposure and access to capital which simply isn’t available on the junior exchanges. We are honoured to welcome Alpha Lithium as our newest corporate partner and look forward, with much anticipation, to the results of their lithium exploration in Argentina.”

Alpha Lithium is currently focused on advancing its two flagship projects in Argentina’s famous “Lithium Triangle,” the Hombre Muerto project and the Tolillar project. Lithium is a key component in rechargeable batteries for electric vehicles, mobile phones, laptops, digital cameras, and more.

“Having advanced our company operationally, advancing to the more senior NEO Exchange is now critical to gaining wider access to investors,” said Brad Nichol, President, and CEO of Alpha Lithium. “From a capital markets perspective, we chose to graduate our public listing to the NEO Exchange in order to leverage their reach with a broader range of global, institutional investors. Today’s uplisting is reflective of many exciting growth developments occurring within the company.”

Investors can seamlessly continue trade shares of ALLI through their usual investment channels, including discount brokerage platforms and full-service dealers.
